EXERCISES

Commemorating Martyrdom of Robert Emmet to Be Held.

Ladies' Auxiliary Have Secured the New Masonic Theater.

Good Programme Arranged and Large Crowd Is Expected.

ADDRESS BY MR. J. J. FITZGERALD

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held a special meeting at Hibernian Hall Sunday night and made preparations for the celebration of the centenary of the execution of Robert Emmet, the youthful patriot and martyr. Miss Mary Cavanaugh, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, presided and announced that the County Board heartily concurred in the idea of the ladies celebrating in honor of Robert Emmet. The committee appointed to secure a hall reported in favor of the new Masonic Theater and the report was adopted.

Remarks were made and suggestions offered by Mrs. Mary Clines, Miss Mary Sheridan and Miss Julia Kelly. State President Keenan, State Treasurer George Butler, William M. Higgins and Thomas Dolan all made encouraging addresses to the ladies. It was Treasurer Butler's first visit to the Ladies' Auxiliary. He expressed himself as agreeably surprised at the attendance and said he believed that the celebration of Emmet's centenary would be a fine opportunity to bring the Ladies' Auxiliary before the public.

Mrs. Mary Clines, Mrs. William T. Meehan and State President Thomas Keenan were appointed a committee to secure an orator for the centennial celebration. The following music committee was appointed: Misses Julia Kelly, Margaret Coughlin, Mamie Keenan, Lizzie Callahan and Mrs. William T. Meehan. The press committee is made up of Mrs. Margaret Foley, Miss Jennie McAvoy, Mrs. Mary Clines and William M. Higgins. It was decided to send invitations to all the local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Thomas Dolan held the ladies spellbound with several of his inimitable stories. During the evening six more applications for membership were received.

Mrs. Anna Lynch, of Syracuse, N. Y., and a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of that place, was present and told of the good work the organization had done in that city despite the obstacles encountered. She told the Louisville ladies of the great field they had before them and bade them avoid jealousy and advised them to transact the business of the organization within the hall and not on the outside. Her remarks were well received.

The meeting adjourned to meet tomorrow night, when all the ladies are expected to be present to hear reports from the sub-committees.

The entertainment committee met at the residence of Thomas Keenan Tuesday night and drew up a part of the programme for the Emmet centenary. James J. Fitzgerald was invited to deliver the principal address and will accept the invitation. This in itself is a guarantee that the oration on Robert Emmet will be able, instructive and interesting. A quartet of ladies will sing "Oh Breathe Not His Name." Mrs. William T. Meehan will render an alto solo, "The Last Words of Emmet." Al F. Barrett will render a baritone solo, "Who Fears to Speak of '98?" Miss Mary Cavanaugh, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Thomas D. Clines will recite appropriate selections. Joseph Metzroth will give a cornet solo and will be accompanied on the piano by Miss Orr, and vocal solos will be rendered by Miss Josephine Hoertz and Miss Doyle. The programme in full was announced later. The ladies are working training a children's chorus of several patriotic songs. Members of the auxiliary feel that the eyes of the public are upon them and will make every effort to arrange a high class entertainment.

VERY INTERESTING

Talks Made at Jefferson County Catholic Federation.

The Jefferson County Catholic Federation met at Hibernian Hall on Friday night of last week, and as it was the first meeting since the national convention at Atlantic City a full attendance was on hand. President Fowler occupied the chair, and the first business was the election of Anthony J. Sheridan as Vice President to succeed Newton G. Rogers, who resigned, owing to pressure of other business.

Dr. Fowler read the resolutions adopted by the National Federation. William T. Meehan, another one of the Jefferson county delegates to the National Federation, explained the resolutions and recounted the different views of leading delegates on various subjects discussed at the convention. Mr. Meehan's remarks were intensely interesting. He also told that the resolutions were the most important feature of the convention.

Dr. Ben J. Lammers, another delegate from Jefferson county, gave an interesting account of his interview with the delegate from the Philippines, and the latter's explanation of the disagreement between the United States Government and the Catholic church regarding church property. Dr. Frank A. Clark, another one of the delegates, made an excellent talk on the Catholic missionaries to the Indians. Thus it seemed that each of the delegates reported on different features of the National Federation, and taken as a whole the reports were comprehensive and instructive.

SOCIAL SESSION

To Be Held by Division 4, A. O. H., For Its Lady Friends.

Division 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, held its regular meeting Wednesday night, President Hennessy presiding. A communication from the Ladies' Auxiliary inviting the members to attend the Robert Emmet centenary was received and accepted by unanimous vote.

The Visiting Committee reported Martin Joyce and Eugene Sullivan as well as Ben Zorn recovering. State President Keenan addressed the meeting and urged all to witness the Emmet celebration to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. He said a first-class programme would be arranged for the occasion. Division 4 decided to attend the celebration and to encourage the ladies in every possible way, even voting to pay its pro rata of loss should the entertainment not realize a sufficient sum to meet their requirements.

State Secretary Meehan thanked the division for their kindly feelings toward the auxiliary. He said he felt their aid would be forthcoming, as the ladies had always attended and worked for the entertainments of Division 4.

Former County President John Murphy made a brief speech, advocating more frequent social sessions at which ladies would be welcome. He said such meetings would be beneficial both to members and outsiders. His words were heartily indorsed by all present, and it was voted to make the next meeting, September 23, a social one. Members will be expected to bring their wives, sisters and sweet hearts and enjoy a pleasant celebration.

HIS FIRST MASS

Celebrated by the Rev. Father Ohlman at St. Joseph's Church.

The Rev. Father George Ohlman, recently ordained, and a brother of Frank Ohlman, a well known citizen of the East End, celebrated his first mass at St. Joseph's church last Sunday morning. Father Ohlman is a native of Alsace-Lorraine, where he was educated, and was ordained a few weeks ago, a short time before his father died, and the young man decided to come to America so that his relatives could attend the celebration of his first mass.

Solemn high mass began at 9:30 o'clock and the young priest was conducted from the rectory into the church in solemn procession by the altar boys and assisting clergy. The Very Rev. Father David Kersting, O. F. M., pastor of St. Joseph's, was the assistant priest; the Rev. Father Prosper Stemann, O. F. M., deacon; the Rev. Alphonse Phillips, student of theology at Washington, D. C., sub-deacon, and the Rev. Stephen Hoffman, master of ceremonies. The Very Rev. Fathers Louis Ohle and Bernard Westerman were given seats of honor in the sanctuary.

An unusual feature was that the festival sermon was preached by the Rev. Julian Harion, also from Alsace-Lorraine, and a brother of Mrs. Frank Ohlman, so that a brother of both Mr. and Mrs. Ohlman were participants in the celebration. The church was beautifully decorated in the Papal colors and the sanctuary was a mass of palms, ferns and potted plants, loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith. The choir, under the leadership of Prof. Hemmersbach, contributed to the solemnity of the occasion by its beautiful rendition of Ahern's mass in honor of St. Patrick. The soloists were Misses Louise and Lena Wiedemer and Messrs. J. J. Mueller and Charles Wiedemer. Solemn vespers at 3 o'clock closed the celebration, which will ever remain a memorable one for the members of St. Joseph's congregation.

MASON—ROGERS.

Frank Mason, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Minnie Rogers, of this city, will be united in matrimony at St. Paul's church, this city, at 8 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, September 23. The Rev. Father York will perform the ceremony and nuptial high mass will follow. Miss Rogers is the charming daughter of James P. Rogers, a veteran Hibernian. Mr. Mason is engaged in the dry goods business in Cleveland. Both are popular young people and have the well wishes of many friends.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Prominent Knights of Columbus of this city will soon institute a council of that order in Owensboro, which will make four in Kentucky. The Louisville council expects to have another big initiation this fall.

SPLENDID

Was the Showing Made by Mackin Council Last Sunday.

Celebrated Its Tenth Anniversary Religiously as Well as Socially.

Words of Encouragement From the Clergy Pleased the Young Men.

INSPIRING SCENES IN CHURCH

Never perhaps in the history of Louisville had Catholics, priests and laymen, as much right to feel proud of their young men as on last Sunday, when nearly 200 members of Mackin Council, Young Men's Institute, approached the sanctuary and received holy communion at St. Cecilia's church and in the afternoon attended vespers and benediction of the most blessed sacrament at St. Anthony's.

The morning celebration began at 7 o'clock, when the Rev. Father Kalaher celebrated high mass. The seats on both sides of the middle aisle were filled with well dressed, devout Catholic young men. It was a sight inspiring not only to the people in the body of the church, but to the choir, whose members under the direction of Prof. Soete sang the music of the mass in a beautiful manner. The Rev. Father Kalaher preached on the gospel of the day, and although he did not mention the Young Men's Institute, made the words of the gospel applicable to the great body of young men who had approached the holy table.

In the afternoon the members assembled at their club house, where they were joined by the members of Unity Council, New Albany, and Trinity and Satoli Councils and marched to St. Anthony's church to attend vespers. As in the morning, the sight was an inspiring one and the choir, directed by Prof. Kolros, sang the grand music of the vespers as if each member had been inspired by the edifying presence of the young men.

The Very Rev. Father Leo Gredlich, who officiated, addressed the assembled young men and told how glad he was that they had come to St. Anthony's. He said he appreciated the honor they had done his church and the young men of his congregation. The reverend speaker said it was an edifying and beautiful sight to see them thus openly professing their faith, a sight to make their parents rejoice and to bring pleasure to their brothers and sisters. No man, he said, could be a good Catholic and at the same time be afraid or ashamed to profess his faith. The members of Mackin Council, said Father Leo, not only approached the holy table in the morning, but for the second time in the day had come to honor and offer prayers of thanksgiving to Almighty God. He asked God to reward these young men temporally as well as spiritually, and said that the spirit of the Young Men's Institute was inspiring and encouraging. There are no false bottoms in these young men, said Father Leo. He closed with words of advice on the spirit they should maintain and admonished them to hold themselves and their banner high in the estimation of the public, thereby attracting the attention and saving non-Catholics. He bade them continue the life of honor they were living as young men so that God would take care of them in their old age.

St. Anthony's beautiful church was rendered doubly beautiful on this occasion by the myriads of incandescent lights that shed their rays over the grand gathering of young men. The choir never sang with grander effect. All present felt that it was a time of thanksgiving and rejoicing.

After the ceremonies at St. Anthony's church the members of Mackin and the visiting councils, headed by the banner of Mackin Council, marched to the club house, at 530 Twenty-sixth street, where the social celebration of the tenth anniversary of the organization of the council was held.

President Frank Murphy welcomed all, and indeed there were present many visitors from Satoli and Trinity Councils and from other councils in the State. Among the prominent visitors were John J. Barry, Supreme Director, and William J. Dawson, of St. Catherine's Council, New Haven. President Murphy in the course of his remarks said that the members of Mackin Council have now realized their most earnest hope—they owned a home of their own. Vincent B. Smith, as master of ceremonies, then assumed charge of the celebration and introduced James Shelley, Mackin's first President, who recounted the early history and struggles of that body. His reference to the beautiful banner created much enthusiasm. The turning point has come for Mackin Council, said Mr. Shelley, and we are now on the high road to success. In conclusion he expressed his appreciation of the kind words of Father Kalaher in the morning and Father Leo in the afternoon.

Councilman Augustus J. Bizot was introduced and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many visitors present, particularly the members of Unity Council of New Albany. To the members of Mackin

Council he expressed the belief that the work they were doing would be for the good of the order and of humanity. Grand President William Perry also expressed his pleasure at being present and declared that Mackin Council was a credit to the order and to the State. Charles J. Pfeffer, of the Board of Grand Directors, Indiana jurisdiction, made a happy address in offering to Mackin the congratulations of Unity Council of New Albany. Mackin Council, he said, was the sponsor or Godmother of Unity. Harry Swann, of Trinity Council and a pioneer of Louisville's Young Men's Institute, offered his congratulations and said he was proud of Mackin's success. The spirit of Mackin's members, he said, was worthy of emulation. He predicted great things for the council if its members would continue their energetic work for ten years more.

Daniel Conniff, a veteran of the Young Men's Institute and former President of Mackin, said he was as proud as a boy with his first pair of boots. He told how on November 9 four years ago the members of Mackin Council conceived the idea of owning their own house, how the work was begun energetically and pushed to a successful conclusion. He read the deed to the beautiful property and exhibited the fourteen notes, the last one of which was paid on September 2, although it would not fall due until 1907. The members and visitors were enthusiastic in their applause of Mr. Conniff's remarks.

Tom Garvey, the genial President of Trinity Council, congratulated the members of Mackin and expressed the hope that his own council would soon own its own home.

Charles Raidy, one of Mackin's old war horses, was called upon and stated that his sentiments had already been expressed by previous speakers. He could only indorse what had been said and invited members of other councils to visit Mackin's club house more frequently. Dr. Alphonse Bizot made a very happy address. He was elated, he said, by the words of encouragement heard from God's altar during the forenoon and afternoon. Those who do not indorse the Young Men's Institute, said Mr. Bizot, must inwardly admire its members. Clarence H. Zook was called upon. He said that his forte was listening, not talking, but he could not refuse to say something on such a happy occasion. He urged all to hew to the line and live up to all the laws of the society and church and predicted many happy and useful years for Mackin and its members.

Eugene Cooney, of Trinity, in a brief address said that Mackin's members had done so well that he felt they knew it all. Nevertheless he wished to congratulate them and hoped that the council would live to celebrate its century. Harry Bloemer said that he would now be able to relax his watch on the treasury since all the notes had been paid.

Master of Ceremonies Vincent B. Smith closed the oratory with a timely and eloquent address, in which he stated that Mackin Council had contributed largely to the success of many of its members. It had been a grand school for young men and they had profited by its teachings.

While the speaking was in progress and long afterward an abundant supply of refreshments was distributed among the members and visitors. Messrs. Arthur Reagan, Pat Mullarkey and Clem Benken attended to the wants of the inner man and earned a vote of thanks from all present. The festivities closed shortly after 6 o'clock.

IRISH BREWERS

Have Succeeded in Breaking Into the Peirage of Great Britain.

Two Irish brewers have succeeded in breaking into the English peirage. They are Lords Iveagh, who was Edward Guinness, and Lord Burton, who before he entered the peirage was Michael Bass. Lord Iveagh is described as a tall, slender, studious-looking man, and has more the appearance of a professor than a brewer. He is the wealthiest brewer in Great Britain, and to commemorate the recent visit of Edward VII. to Ireland Lord Iveagh gave $150,000 to the Irish hospitals, just three times as much as the King gave. He is a practical business man and started the recent movement to establish better railway and steamship facilities to accelerate trade between Ireland and England.

Lord Burton is also described as a level-headed but jocular business man. Yet he is not as popular with the masses as Lord Iveagh.

FATHER WHITE RECOVERS.

The Rev. Father Thomas W. White, pastor of St. Frances of Rome church in Clifton, has recovered sufficiently to return to his rectory. Father White suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion several weeks ago and had to be removed to St. Mary and Elizabeth's Hospital. His parishioners and many friends throughout the city are greatly pleased to hear of his recovery.

OHIO'S GRAND COUNCIL.

The Grand Council, Young Men's Institute, Ohio jurisdiction, will be held at Wapakoneta, Ohio, tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. The Cincinnati councils will go in a body 500 strong and accompanied by two bands of music. A feature of the meeting will be a grand parade tomorrow afternoon. Visiting delegations will be present from Ironton, Portsmouth, Springfield, Lancaster, Zanesville and other Ohio towns and cities.

ANTI-EMIGRATION

Discussed at a Representative Meeting Held in Cork Recently.

Bishop Sheehan Presided and Made Several Practical Suggestions.

Michael Davitt Advocates Holding an International Conference at St. Louis.

A TERRIBLE DRAIN ON IRELAND

The Anti-Emigration Society of Ireland recently held a conference in the city of Cork and delegates were present from all of the Provinces and nearly every county. His Lordship Bishop Sheehan, of Waterford and Lismore, presided over the meeting and delivered the principal address. The Secretary read a letter from Michael Davitt, in which he advocated an international conference to consider an anti-emigration movement, to be held at the St. Louis World's Fair next year. Mr. Davitt stated that the society would be certain to obtain the active co-operation of clergy and laity, who could speak with authority on the darker as well as the more pleasant side of laboring life for young Irish men and women in America, Australia, the Argentine Republic and elsewhere. He advocated a representative conference of Irishmen at home, in Great Britain, Canada, the United States and all over the world.

Bishop Sheehan, in the course of his address, said it was a sad thing to recollect that in the last five years 190,000 people had left Ireland. He added that according to statistical reports 487,000 families had left Ireland. No doubt some of them in the natural course of things disappeared at home, but one would not be far wrong in believing that between three and four hundred thousand of them must have left the country. That was a very sad thing to contemplate, but it appeared to him that they had spent more than sufficient time and energy in talking in a general way about this subject of emigration, and they should settle down now to real practical hard work, for, as had been said, the work was as difficult as it was noble and national. On the one hand they had to remember this much: In every movement with which the history of our country had been filled, in modern as well as in more remote periods, there was always a question of some measure that was deemed more or less useful and more or less advantageous for the good of the people, but in this matter of emigration it was today not a question of something that was more or less useful or something that would benefit this, that or the other class. No, it was simply a question of the very existence of the nation. If the present drain was to go on much longer then the condition of the nation would be irredeemable.

It is high time, said Bishop Sheehan, to do some practical work. In order to do that they had to address themselves to two distinct classes. They had first of all to address themselves to the Irish abroad, and he was inclined to think that that was a matter which had been too long neglected. They addressed themselves in the past mainly to the Irish at home, but now the Irish abroad had a large share in bringing about the emigration of recent years. They induced their families in various ways to leave the country; in some instances they were holding out the promise of a warm reception in America; in other instances their efforts took the more substantial form of the passage ticket, and unless they got at the people who were making the promise to send the passage ticket they would not, as far as he knew anything of the question, get at the root of it all. Then, how were they to get at it? Directly, no doubt, by addressing them, but indirectly, and he thought, more powerfully still, by getting at the leaders of the Irish in America—getting at their political and clerical leaders—by getting at the Irish Catholic press in America, and addressing the Irish through it—and they should appeal to the patriotism of the Irish people in America. If there be any bright page in the history of emigration—that page was the page which told of the love of the Irish in America for their native land, and they had a right to appeal today in that sacred name to their countrymen and women across the Atlantic. Ireland—their motherland, parted with them sadly and sorely, because she was not able to give them bread; in the near future, with God's help, a different story would be told, and when Ireland striving to rise from the depths into which she had fallen, addressed her children across the Atlantic to come and help her—surely that appeal will not be made in vain.

Bishop Sheehan also indorsed Michael Davitt's plan for an international conference to be held at St. Louis next year. Several other papers were read along the same line and before long the society will begin its practical work of appealing to the Irish-American press.

JOLLY BATHING PARTY.

Quite a delightful bathing party was given at Shawnee Park beach. The chaperones were James Kerlin, Mesdames M. Howard, J. Ades, B. Springer, P. Archer, F. Eschrich, W. M. Bowles, M. Hall, M. Hill and A. M. Ramsey. The following young ladies were in the party: Misses May and Mamie Schardein, Irma Mettler, June Ramsey, Agnes Wright, Queenie Vogel, Edna Whistler, Catherine Grissman, Esther Keenan, Marie Leonard, Cassie Howard, Mamie Keenan, Bettie Ettenson, Nellie and Nettie Springer, Leone Howard, Ida Reager, Ella O'Connell, Nina and Lena Heath, Eva Brenner, Daisy Francis, Ruth Ades, Lula Bates, Lottie Voelker, Viola King and Virginia Barrett.

PROGRESS

Is Being Made in Arrangements For the Dramatic Entertainment.

Arrangements for the dramatic, musical and literary entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Central Committee, Catholic Knights of America, are progressing favorably. The entertainment committee met in the office of Newton G. Rogers last Saturday night. Joseph P. McGinn presided and the following members were present: Messrs. Rogers, Reichert, Speaker, Thickett, Neuhaus, Soeder, Schalka, Aud, Seibert and Martin.

Mr. Martin reported that he had invited Father Bax, in behalf of the Central Committee, to deliver an address preceding the dramatic entertainment, but Father Bax courteously declined on the ground that he never left his house at night. Ben Speaker, who is in active charge of the dramatic entertainment, reported that the performers had a rehearsal since the previous meeting and everything was progressing nicely. He thanked Mr. McGinn, at whose house the rehearsal was held, for courtesies received. Mr. Reichert presented another batch of hangers, which were distributed among the members.

Mr. Martin reported that he had sold sixty tickets to three branches during the week. Chairman McGinn instructed each member of the meeting to secure what advertisements he could for the programme. Members of the committee were also instructed to visit the various branches during the week to distribute tickets. About 100 tickets were disposed of during the meeting.

CARDINAL LOGUE

Believes That the Land Bill Will Do Much for Ireland.

Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, has returned home from Rome, where he took part in the election of Pope Pius X. To a newspaper correspondent who asked for his views on the present situation in Ireland, and the possible union of the Anglican and Catholic churches, Cardinal Logue said:

"At present the material and financial prosperity is greater than ever before. The new policy, favorable to Ireland, inaugurated by the Government at the instigation of King Edward, is of great and real benefit to Ireland, which has gained, merely by the application of the new land bill, more than a million pounds. The people nobly and spontaneously, without any pressure whatever from the authorities in Dublin and in the other Irish towns, have expressed during the recent visit of King Edward their gratitude to the Crown and the hope that the Government would not hesitate to adopt all such measures as are necessary to the improvement of the Emerald Isle. The King's visit was, in my opinion, a political step of the highest importance. King Edward and Queen Alexandra had a true appreciation of the bearing of their visit and took a true view of the situation when they replied to those who insisted on the perils of such a visit by saying: 'We are going to a civilized people who know how to receive and appreciate their friends.'"

"Your question as regards the relative positions of the Catholic and Anglican churches is very delicate and embarrassing. I can only answer it by avoiding it. Leo XIII., as is well known, entertained the fond hope of bringing about a union between the two churches, and actively and intelligently endeavored to bring about that consummation; he was not successful, still the hope of seeing it accomplished is not yet gone; on the contrary, I am still cherishing the fond illusion that it may be realized before I close my eyes forever. It is the highest thing that I can hope to see realized in my life, for I am convinced that as long as the schisms exists in the English church the complete fusion of the English and Irish nations can not take place. Yet it would be so profitable to both and would help to solve the Irish problem."

TAKES A REST.

The Rev. Father John B. Kelly, pastor of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, has gone to Mackinac, Mich., to take a well deserved rest. He will be gone several weeks.

POPULAR NUNS RETURN.

Sister Mary Rita, the art and vocal instructor, and Sister Margaret Mary, preceptress in Latin, two of the most popular instructors at the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, at 1152 East Broadway, have returned after a pleasant visit to convents and academies of repute in the East.

GOV. BECKHAM

Opens Democratic Campaign Under Most Favorable Auspices.

An Able and Convincing Speech by Chief Executive at Winchester.

Thousands of Kentuckians Rallied to Hear First Gun of Campaign.

LOUISVILLE WELL REPRESENTED

Gov. Beckham, the nominee of the Democratic party to succeed himself as Chief Executive of the State, opened his campaign under the most auspicious circumstances at Winchester last Saturday. Not only was Clark county and adjacent counties well represented, but men from every section of Kentucky were on hand to swell the crowd. Of course Jefferson county sent her quota, more than 300 men, while Shelby and Franklin counties were not far behind. It is indeed a good indication of the feelings of the people when more than 300 citizens of this city travel 103 miles to hear a political speech and then return on the same day. On every side were heard words of commendation for the able young Governor. The feeling is such that if the election were held tomorrow Gov. Beckham would sweep the State. But the campaign has just begun. Gov. Beckham will deliver one or more speeches in each of the eleven Congressional districts, while his colleagues on the ticket and minor orators in the Democratic ranks will stump every county, town, village and hamlet in the grand old Commonwealth.

The demonstration at Winchester was a great one and has been variously estimated at from 6,000 to 10,000 people. Men traveled to Winchester by train, on horseback, in carriages and afoot, and all were hospitably received by the people and would have been well pleased with their visit to this beautiful bluegrass region even had there not been a great Democratic rally on hand.

The people of Winchester and Clark county had prepared a magnificent barbecue for the visitors. Six thousand gallons of golden burgoo were distributed among the thirsty, travel-stained enthusiasts, while thousands of loaves of bread and the fattest of bluegrass fed sheep and cattle were added to the menu and all cooked in good, old-fashioned Kentucky style. The barbecue and the speaking were both held in the center of a magnificent grove. A large tent sheltered the crowd from the sun. In the morning just enough rain fell to lay the dust, so that the weather was clear and pleasant when the speaking began.

On the platform with Gov. Beckham were the Hon. Samuel W. Hager, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, who had much to do with making the first meeting of the campaign a success; United States Senators Joe C. Blackburn and James B. McCreary, Congressmen Ollie James and John Trimble, Hon. Harry Weissinger, John W. Vreeland, Willard Mitchell and a host of other Democratic leaders. Gov. Beckham was introduced by the Hon. C. Breckinridge Hill, Secretary of State.

Gov. Beckham made a profound impression on his audience. His speech was a straightforward statement of affairs concerning the State government, its finances and necessities. While he held up to the light the record of his Republican predecessors as compared with his own, he engaged in no vituperation or mudslinging. It was a manly and at the same time an able effort in which the speaker showed his thorough familiarity with affairs of State and his ability and willingness to open a bright and prosperous future for Kentucky.

Other speakers of the day were Senators Blackburn and McCreary, Congressman Ollie James and Harry Weissinger, of this city. Each speaker told along a different line and all were listened to with attention.

Special credit is due County Clerk William J. Semonin for the able manner in which he conducted the excursion from Louisville, which also carried the cohorts of Shelbyville and Frankfort.

Everywhere the Governor appears he is received by large and enthusiastic gatherings of admiring friends.

COMING HOME

Baltimore Catholics Preparing Reception For Cardinal Gibbons.

Cardinal Gibbons is expected to arrive in Baltimore about September 20. The Catholic Legion, of which he was one of the founders, and other Catholic societies of Baltimore are preparing to give the distinguished prelate a fitting reception on his return home. Cardinal Gibbons has been sojourning in Switzerland for several weeks and has been fully restored to health. No doubt this distinguished prelate will have much that is interesting and instructive to tell the Catholics of America on his return. He is the first and only American Cardinal that ever helped to elect a Pope.

WORLD'S FAIR CONTEST.

The announcement of the standing of the contestants in the Kentucky Irish American's popularity contest last week has caused the friends of many candidates to make renewed efforts. The fact that there were so many in the race caused considerable surprise, and now each one seems determined to outdo the other. The race is young yet and open to all. If you do not care to enter yourself help a friend in the race.

A week's trip to the World's Fair at St. Louis, with the Lindell Hotel as your stopping place, is worth trying for. Remember four prizes are offered—a man and wife, an unmarried man and a single lady will have the advantage of this offer. The race is open to people of all nationalities and creeds. All you have to do is to have your friends subscribe for the Kentucky Irish American for a year. You get fifty votes with every dollar paid in, besides the ballot in each week's issue.

CLERGY AND NEWSPAPERS.

The Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, N. J., in the course of his sermon on the occasion of the consecration of Bishop Colton, of Buffalo, said:

"The Catholic press and Catholic literature deserve the Bishop's attention. By good reading the home is kept pure. The Catholic solution of modern problems should be disseminated in the secular as well as the religious press. We have, until lately, signally failed to bring Catholic doctrine to the knowledge of the public through the press. This in a measure accounts for the prejudice against us which still remains. It has its root in a profound ignorance of the Catholic religion."

There is indeed much food for thought in these words of Bishop McFaul. The Catholic Bishop is, or should be, a leader of his people at all times, but as Bishop McFaul justly states we have signally failed, until lately, to bring Catholic doctrine to the knowledge of the public through the press. The Bishops, like other clergy, are modest men and not in the habit of seeking notoriety through the press, particularly the Catholic press, yet an occasional and timely article on current problems from the Bishop and clergy would do much to destroy ignorance of Catholic methods and break down the barrier of prejudice against the Catholic religion. It is not enough for the Bishop to instruct through pastoral letters, nor for the priest to expect his sermon delivered in the church on stated occasions to bring our dissenting brethren into the fold. The Bishop and the clergy should take every possible occasion of preaching the truth, not alone to their respective flocks, but to the world in general. Our Bishops and priests are learned men, and if they will only make the effort they can do much through the press for the enlightenment of those who have not the gift of the true faith.

The number of Catholic newspaper men employed on the secular papers in the United States is distressingly small. As a consequence we daily run across press dispatches containing garbled accounts of Catholic ceremonies and celebrations. The reporters, in few instances, intend to misrepresent the Catholic religion or its people, but they do so from ignorance of the Catholic doctrine.

As a rule the reporter is fresh from high school, college or university, and perhaps a little impressed with his own importance, considerably impressed with the fact that he writes for the press, and not at all impressed with religion. All creeds look alike to him. He may have gone to Sunday-school in his pinafore days, but since then he has regarded religion as a myth and knows more of the attributes of mythological deities than of the old or new testaments. And yet these young men are anxious to learn. They ask questions innumerable and keep on asking until they think they have an understanding of the matters they are to write about in their heads. Unfortunately they have just got enough information to be misleading, and of course will give the dear public the benefit of what they don't know about Catholicism.

Once in a while you will find a Catholic reporter on a secular newspaper, and when you do you will find a man who has the respect of his superiors and fellow-workers. He is questioned on this, that and the other doctrine. What is the rosary? What is the mass? Why do Catholics go to confession to a priest instead of confessing their faults to God? All these questions and many more are asked of the Catholic reporters and are always answered intelligently. In fact the Catholic reporter, with the true spirit of faith, when he finds his religion is being questioned will arm himself all the more with good reading and will be prepared to ward off attacks. But a few reporters can not do it all. Let the Bishops and the clergy cultivate the newspaper men, if need be write their own "copy" for the secular press, whether it be the account of a ceremony or a sermon, and then there will be fewer errors concerning church affairs.

ANENT MR. PARRY.

D. M. Parry, the labor baiter of Indianapolis, has been talking for the press again, but then there is little news in that—Mr. Parry is always talking for the press. Like many other demagogues of the present day, who seek free advertising, Mr. Parry attacks the labor unions. Labor unions shredded are his breakfast food, labor unions roasted to a turn constitute his dinner, and labor unions sliced cold and served with sauce he devours for supper. This menu he repeats day by day until one thinks he would grow tired of the monotony. Not so, however. Mr. Parry still hungers for labor unions. In his screed he says:

"Fully realizing the dreadful crimes and outrages which have been committed under the cloak of organized labor, I was determined to take no chances as to the protection of my family, my property and myself. It is true that my premises are watched day and night by men whom I trust, and I have issued orders to them to act first and explain afterward in case there is any attempt to do injury to them or those who belong to me."

Poor man! He reminds one of Pombal, the Portuguese Prime Minister, who finding that no Prime Minister of his country had ever been assassinated, caused his Parliament to draft a law providing for the punishment of the assassins of a Prime Minister, and then went about miserable, because he was not assassinated.

Labor union advocates would be the first to denounce any attack of violence on Mr. Parry, his family, or his property. He knows that, but like many others who seek notoriety, he dreams; and in his dream believes that he is a modern Samson seeking to kill the labor union Philistines, and he undertakes to exterminate them with the original Samsonic weapon, the jawbone of an ass.

Archbishop Ireland, in his address at the Labor day celebration at St. Paul, struck a key note when he said: "Let wage earners ever strive to be reasonable, to ask what is right, but not to ask what is wrong." Exactly so! And employers should ever strive to pay their employees reasonable wages and reasonable hours. With employer and employee working together for the right strife and dissension will disappear from the land.

Judge Denis O'Brien, of the New York Court of Appeals, appears to be a wonder. On Tuesday he was nominated by the Republicans to succeed himself. A week previous the Democrats nominated him to succeed himself. With everybody pleased there can be no doubt of his election.

SCHOOL YEAR

Began Monday With a Large Increase Over Last Year's Attendance.

All the Catholic schools, colleges and academies in the diocese of Louisville opened Monday, and in every case an increase in attendance was noted. Nazareth Academy recorded 100 pupils on the first day and during the week every train has brought additions. Loreto and St. Catherine's also have well attended schools. In the city of Louisville the Presentation Academy, the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy and Cedar Grove have an unusually large number of pupils. St. Xavier's College for boys has the largest attendance in its history, several classes being so large that they had to be divided and additional teachers placed in charge.

All of the parochial schools have proportionately increased and at St. John's one new teacher was required. Pupils and teachers began the new school year in their respective schools and academies by attending mass. Louisville has reason to be proud of her schools.

Watch for standing in popularity contest next week.

The approaching marriage of Miss Margaret Akers, of this city, and George K. Wallner, of Bedford, Ind., is announced. The happy event will take place at St. John's church, Clay and Walnut streets, on Thursday, September 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkins have returned from their bridal trip and are receiving the congratulations of their friends. Mrs. Wilkins was formerly Miss Mary McDonald, the charming niece of Ed McDonald. Mr. Wilkins is a trusted employee of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company.

Harry Furlong and Miss Mayme Kinney were united in marriage at Holy Cross church at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, the Rev. Father Cunningham officiating. The bride is a pretty and popular young lady of the East End. Mr. Furlong is a plumber in the employment of F. W. Lash. Both have many friends who wish them a happy journey through life. Mr. and Mrs. Furlong have begun housekeeping at 618 Washington street.

Messrs. Ben Imorde, John Ryan, Will Carraro and Tom Hines, members of the Pastime Boat Club, gave a barge party Monday evening to their friends. In the party were Misses Anna Collins, Anna O'Keefe, Lizzie O'Keefe, May Leniman, Marie Hart, Mary Flanagan, Katie McLaughan, Opal Ogden, Mary Boyle and Maggie Boyle; Messrs. James Scally, Ray Flanagan, Will Nalley, Will Imorde, Tom Barry, Leo Ramsey and Al Zoeller. Mr. and Mrs. George McBride chaperoned the party.

Harry J. Meyer, of this city, and Miss Fannie Richards, of Lancaster, O., will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony at St. Charles Borromeo church on Wednesday morning, the Rev. Father Raffo officiating. After a wedding trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer will be at home to their friends at 1809 West Jefferson street. Mr. Meyer is a son of Mrs. Tony Landenwich and travels for the Heybach-Bush Company, dealers in printers' supplies. His bride is well known here, where she has frequently visited. Both are popular young people.

Miss Margaret McMurtry Shannon, of Lexington, and Ernest F. Bohne, of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at St. Paul's church, Lexington, on Tuesday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father James P. Barry. Among the wedding guests from Louisville were Mr. E. C. Bohne, father of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Schimpfer, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bohne, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bohne, Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, Miss Ella Gerst, Dr. Netherland, Rudolph Finck and Otto Bohne. The young couple will begin housekeeping in Louisville about October 1.

BACK TO ERIN.

Arrangements for the removal to Ireland of the remains of the late Father Eugene O'Growney have been completed by the representatives of the various Irish societies of this country. Father O'Growney, who was a Celtic scholar, and was professor of Gaelic in Maynooth College, Ireland, died a few years ago in Los Angeles, Cal. The Gaelic League of America will have charge of the work of exhuming the body and transferring it to the cemetery at Maynooth. The body will reach Dublin on Sunday, September 27, and Archbishop Walsh will officiate at the solemn requiem mass.

MASONIC THEATER.

"Two Little Vagrants," a stirring drama of French life, comes to the Masonic Theater next week. The story of the play tells of the adventures, tribulations and triumphs of two little outcasts, one a strong, heroic boy, the child of rich parents; the other a poor, sickly little chap who is dependent upon his companion for aid and protection. Both parts are assumed by women, but they are so widely different in character that both are equally interesting. The play requires an enormous quantity of scenery and the scene of the lock on the River Seine is a thrilling effect in sensational stagecraft.

HOPKINS.

The people of Louisville have given renewed evidence during the present week that they appreciate good vaudeville, as the attendance at Hopkins Theater has been large at each performance. Next week manager Hopkins offers the following attractions: Rapiol, the juggler; Eva Mudge, the "Military Maid" and lighting change artist; the Four Millions, the juggling Johnsons, club swingers; Martinetta and Grossi, trick bicycle riders; Raymond Teal, the black face monologue artists; Rader brothers and the biograph.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Kentucky Belles will hold the boards at the Buckingham Theater next week. The show is described as an aggregation of Bluegrass beauties, who are enchanting singers and graceful dancers. In addition to the burlesque seven high class vaudeville acts will be seen in the olio. The usual matinees will be given during the week.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Help the Ladies' Auxiliary.
A new division of the Ladies' Auxiliary
was recently organized at Utica, N. Y.
Twenty candidates took the obligation.
Members of Division 1 are urged to be present at the next meeting to assist in the initiation of the newly elected candidates.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Duluth, Minn., recently gave a card party for the benefit of St. James' church, realizing a neat sum.

The State Board has a fine field for a national organization. President Dolan can not well refuse if asked to name one for Kentucky.

Reports from Covington are encouraging. State Secretary Meehan says large gains have been made during the past three months.

Divisions 1, 3 and 4 have accepted the invitations of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and pledged their substantial support for the coming entertainment.

Division 3 received four applications
and initiated three candidates Monday night. The work of the degree team was both pleasing and impressive.

Four companies of Hibernian Knights will assist in the reception of the Most Rev. Archbishop Harty when he visits
St. Louis during the present month.

Division 3 had all the officers present
Monday night. President Cavanaugh and Secretary Pat Welsh are elated over the prospects for this energetic division.

The State and county officers should soon have the new company of Hibernian Knights under way if they want to make a proper showing next year at St. Louis.

The entire four degrees will be conferred upon another large class of candidates at the next meeting of Division 18, Providence, where the order is very strong.

During August more than twenty members of the nine divisions in Providence were reported on the sick list. This is the highest point known in the history of the order.

The meeting of Division 1 last Tuesday night was made interesting by addresses
by Messrs. Newton G. Rogers and Robert Hagan, recently returned from New York and Mexico.

The election of a successor to Thomas Dolan will take place at the next meeting of Division 1. Tom was a popular official, and his host of friends sincerely regret his resignation.

Next Friday night Division 2 will hold its regular monthly meeting. Quite an amount of important business has accumulated, therefore President Con Ford wants every member to attend.

Frank Hogan, President of Division 1
of Jeffersonville, has made a splendid record, as the division is making steady progress. He is the youngest President in Indiana and one of the most popular.

New Albany Hibernians are justly proud of their division, which numbers among its members the best Irishmen of our sister city. Their meetings are well attended and interesting, and for visitors
there is always a cordial welcome.

Gen. James R. O'Beirne addressed the members of Division 32, New York City, last Tuesday night. Another feature of interest was the presentation of a gold medal to Matthew Kelly, winner of several of the Gaelic games at Celtic Park.

The gold emblem offered the member of Division 3 securing the greatest number of new members during the past three months was awarded Patrick Begley, who is recognized as one of the most energetic workers the order has in this city.

PECULIAR CASE

An Alleged Escaped Convict From British Prison Under Arrest.

Irishmen all over the world are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the extradition proceedings now in progress between Great Britain and the United States. James Welch, alias James Lynchehaun, is the bone of contention. Welch, or Lynchehaun, whichever his name may be, was arrested in Indianapolis two weeks ago on information furnished by Sergeant Young, an English detective.
Welch, or Lynchehaun, has many friends
who are fighting against his extradition and a big meeting has been called and Bourke Cochran, James Jeffrey Roche, Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge and Mayor Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, will address those assembled.

Nine years ago James Lynchehaun,
then thirty-three years old, was a tenant
on the estate of Mrs. Agnes McDonald in the County Mayo, Ireland. In that year Mrs. McDonald began a wholesale eviction of her tenants. In every case they resisted and the constabulary were called into use. One day Mrs. McDonald, armed with two revolvers, appeared at the head of a troop of constabulary and proceeded to evict Lynchehaun and his family. In the melee that ensued Mrs. Mc-Donald was knocked down and severely beaten. Lynchehaun was arrested as the culprit and carried to a distant county,
where he was tried, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life. He was taken to England and incarcerated in Maryborough prison. There he served eight years, and about one year ago made his escape and crossed to France. From there he came to America.

English detectives were searching for him in England and Ireland. Sgt.
Young undertook to watch Mrs. Lynchehaun. He claims he came over to America in the same ship with her and her children, though they were unaware of the fact; that he followed them from New York to Cleveland and then to Chicago, where he lost the trail. He then employed Pinkertons to assist him
and they, it is claimed, traced Mrs.

Lynchehaun to Indianapolis. Sergt.
Young was notified and he, with a Pinkerton man, watched the Catholic churches and eventually saw Mrs.
Lynchehaun as she went to mass on Sunday morning. They followed the woman home and the next day entered the house and placed Welch, as he calls himself, under arrest.

The affair caused quite a stir and friends of the prisoner were soon at work to prevent his extradition. On Tuesday last Welch or Lynchehaun was to have had a hearing before the United States Commissioner, but the case was dismissed on motion of the prosecution. The man was immediately rearrested on a warrant issued by the United States Circuit Court of the district of New York. Welch
at once signed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. His friends claim they will carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

On Thursday the legality of the arrest
by a Deputy United States Marshal was argued before Federal Judge Baker. He has reserved his decision.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Directors of the United Irish League.

The National Directory of the United Irish League met in Dublin Tuesday, with William Redmond, M. P., presiding. The Directors adopted resolutions welcoming the Irish land bill as the most substantial victory gained by the people for centuries, and ascribing the result to the loyalty of Chief Secretary Wyndham, the public spirit of the Liberal party and the good will of the landlords.

Other resolutions adopted urged the tenants to negotiate the purchase of their holdings in a spirit of friendliness. The Directors are all well pleased with the present condition of Ireland and have great hopes for the future.

COL. GATES TO MARRY.

Cards are out announcing the approaching wedding of Col. Sid J. Gates, of this city, and Miss Fannie E. Blakemore, of Blakeland, near Smithfield, Ky. The wedding will take place October 15. Col.
and Mrs. Gates will probably go to Europe on a bridal tour. Col. Gates has been the General Agent of the Big Four Route in Louisville during the past ten years and is one of the most popular railroad men in the country. His bride is one of the most charming and cultivated ladies in the State.

The Rev. Father John Scanlan, who has been appointed parish priest at Birr,
was given a farewell reception by his congregation at Cloughjordan.

Constable McCarthy, of the County Cork, was thrown from his bicycle near Lisdoonahanna and sustained a fracture of the skull. His recovery is doubtful.

An abnormal rainfall in Ireland during the past few weeks has cast a damper over the farming element. At present it is impossible to estimate the damage to the crops.

James Ahearne, a farmer residing near Kincor, has been missing since the Gaelic games at Clonmel. He was sixty-five years old and well to do. His friends fear he fell into the River Suir.

Councillor James F. Barry, formerly Mayor of Kilkree, recently jumped into the bay and at the risk of his own life rescued Joseph O'Connor, a member of the Garryowen football club, who was in danger of drowning.

Miss Hannah Dunworth, fourth daughter of the late David Dunworth, of Adare, County Limerick, has made her solemn vows as a nun at Marie Reparatrice Convent, in Rome. She is the third sister in the same family to join this order.

Town Councillor Michael Kirwan at Tramore, County Waterford, while bathing in the slip, heard the cry of a young lady who was being carried out to sea by the undertow and swam to her rescue.
He succeeded in carrying her ashore and then sank exhausted. Both were soon revived and were little the worse for their experience.

Councillor James Myles, of Cork, was presented with an illuminated address by his friends on the fiftieth anniversary of his birth and twenty-fifth anniversary of his wedding. The Hon. D. D. Sheehan, M. P., made the presentation speech of the address of congratulation, while Alderman John Murphy in behalf of the guests assembled presented both Mr. and Mrs. Myles with handsome gold watches and chains.

Miss Carroll, of Lissen Hall, near Nenagh, gave a grand ball to the tenants and working people on the estate. More than 250 invitations were issued and the festivities continued from dusk in the evening till 6 o'clock in the morning.
The Masters Morgan, of Lissen Hall,
gave exhibitions in Irish step dancing.
At the separation of the guests three cheers were given for the Carroll family.

J. Brady and J. Hartigan, who have been undergoing penal servitude at Mary-borough prison, have been released and have returned to their respective homes near Ennis. These two men were convicted at the winter assizes in Sligo in 1890 on the charge of having shot at and wounded a man named Hallinan, who had been installed as caretaker of an evicted farm. They were sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude and had served thirteen years of the sentence
when the order came for their release.
Their friends were surprised and elated.

IRISH HOME

Suggested For King Edward
by an English Correspondent.

Paul Lambeth, a London newspaper correspondent of American journals, declares that there is a rumor that King Edward is about to establish a royal residence in Ireland. Mr. Lambeth, however, admits that the wish is doubtless father to the thought. He believes that King Edward's acquisition of a palace, castle or even a shooting box on Irish soil would make the conquest of Irish hearts complete. Of course this is an Englishman's opinion of the ease with which Irish hearts are to be conquered.

FILIPINO PRIESTS.

Right Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Bishop of Nueva Segovia, Philippine Islands, who is now on his way to his See,
will, on his arrival there, select a certain number of young Filipinos anxious to enter the priesthood and send them to the United States to enter the Catholic University in Washington and other Catholic colleges. The American College at Rome will provide for six students from the Philippines.

GRAND TURNOUT

Labor Unions Made a Splendid Appearance in Their Annual Parade.

The Streets Were Crowded With Sight-Seeers and Marching Men.

Carnival Is Proving a Great Attraction to People of All Classes.

UNIFORMS WERE TASTEFUL AND NEAT

Labor day was gloriously celebrated by the trades unions of Louisville last Monday. It was a national, State and local holiday. Hammer and saw were laid aside and the men who wield them took a day off to celebrate the fact that they live in a land where the dignity of honest labor is appreciated. While the parade in the afternoon was the main feature of the celebration, there were hundreds of workmen who took their wives and families to the parks and enjoyed a day in the cool shade of the beautiful trees.

Early Monday morning bright-faced, intelligent men, jauntily attired, hurried hither and thither through the streets making final arrangements for the afternoon's parade. All were in good humor and well behaved. By noon the streets in the central part of the city were thronged with thousands of men in neat uniforms, each union apparently trying to outdo the other in neatness and taste. Then came the sight-seeers, crowding here and there and all seeking points of vantage from which to view the parade. It is estimated that 12,000 men, representing a hundred unions, were in the line of march, and it is certain that ten times as many people viewed the parade from the sidewalks. Taken as a whole the turnout was not only creditable, but the largest and best since the local labor day parades were inaugurated.

The various unions assembled on Jefferson and intersecting streets from Thirteenth to Ninth. The sun shone merrily, but it prevented very few from marching the full distance. Promptly at 2 o'clock the word of command was given and the columns began to move. At the head rode Chief Marshal William Sweeney and his aides, Ira F. Jones, Edward Weissert, John Fuchs and John Stephens. Immediately behind rode Col. Sebastian Gunther, commanding a squadron of mounted police in full dress uniforms. In the rear of the police were the carriages containing officers of Central Labor Union, several city officials and representatives of the press. The parade passed up Jefferson to Fifth street, thence to Market, to Hancock, to Jefferson, to Third, to Breckinridge and thence to Floyd street, where the marchers entered the carnival grounds. Many of the uniforms were unique, while all were neat and tasteful. The amalgamated steel and metal workers wore tin belts and carried tin parasols. The candy makers carried candy canes, while the barbers wore fern and carnation bouquets. As a rule the marchers wore light-colored shirts and dark trousers. Occasionally this was varied by unions who wore blue flannel shirts and light trousers.

The carnival grounds, where the parade ended, were jammed with union men from the time the procession ended until after 10 o'clock. The attendance during the entire week has been good. A number of Louisville merchants and manufacturers have creditable displays in booths at the carnival grounds, but the main interest appears to center in the amusement features. Speedy, the high diver, continues to be the wonder and delight of the small boy. Ferrari Brothers' wild animal show also attracts crowds in the afternoon and evening. Bears, lions and other ferocious beasts are well handled by their fearless trainers to the great amusement of the sightseers. Then there is the stadium, where aerialists, jugglers, magicians, etc., perform wonderful feats. In another booth is "Mamie," the fire dancer, and again there is a dog and pony show, cyclers who ride on a circular track at an angle of forty-five degrees. The loop-the-loop is one of the most interesting exhibits. It makes the hair of spectators stand erect to see Diavolo shooting around on the big wheel. Last but by no means least is the German village, where the tired and thirsty sightseers sit down to rest and refresh themselves. The carnival will continue all next week.

Today the orphans of the Falls Cities asylums will be admitted free of charge.

WELL PLEASED

Are Members of Irish Parliamentary Party With New Pope.

The members of the Irish Parliamentary party are delighted with the cordial reception given their representative, Sir Thomas Esmonde, by His Holiness Pope Pius X. This representative of the Irish people was received in private audience, and when he started to kneel Pius X. raised him up and made him sit beside him on a chair. Sir Thomas Esmonde presented the congratulations of the Irish Parliamentary party, which were generally received by the Pope, who said he had a sincere and lasting affection for the Irish people. He added that he wished them every happiness.

Sir Thomas Esmonde traces his descent from a Norman knight who joined the English invasion of Ireland in 1172. He is forty-one years old and inherits an estate of 8,000 acres.

RECENT DEATHS.

Many expressions of sympathy have been offered to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dettlinger, of Jeffersonville, whose infant son died on Tuesday. The little one was buried in the Catholic cemetery at Jeffersonville on Wednesday.

It was with deep regret that the many friends in Louisville heard of the death of Maudie, Ind., of Thomas Holden, Jr., the infant son of Thomas Holden and Nanny Sheehy Holden, both formerly of Louisville. The little one was brought to this city for burial. The funeral took place from the residence of Matt. Cassin, 1810 Bolling avenue, on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Carrie Ginter, daughter of Joseph Ginter, died at the family residence, 114 Union street, New Albany, Saturday night. She had been ill a long time and suffered from pulmonary trouble. The deceased was the daughter of Joseph Ginter, Street Commissioner of New Albany, and was highly respected. The funeral took place from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Jane Murphy, an esteemed lady of the West End, died at the residence of her son, Joseph J. Murphy, 2326 Maple street, on Tuesday. The deceased was seventy-five years old and was the mother of Joseph and Martin Murphy, well known contractors. The funeral took place from the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. A large circle of acquaintances attended the services and followed the remains to their last resting place.

Few recent deaths have caused such widespread sorrow as that of Mrs. Mary J. Albers, which occurred at the family residence, 1407 Hull street, last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Albers was twenty-six years of age and was the wife of A. J. Albers. She was a sister of Martin and Dennis Minoque. She had been ill only a short time and suffered from a malignant attack of typhoid fever. The deceased was a most estimable Christian young woman and was noted for her charity and devotion to people in distress. The funeral took place from St. Aloysius' church Tuesday morning. A large circle of friends and acquaintances followed the remains to their last resting place. The heartfelt sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved husband and family of the deceased.

DEDICATION ANNIVERSARY.

To the Editor of The Kentucky Irish-American: On last Sunday, the first Lord's day of September, St. Patrick's church, with appropriate ceremonial and fitting music, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of its solemn dedication to the service of Almighty God. One of the assistant priests preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion. St. Patrick's church is one of the oldest Catholic places of worship in our fair city for English-speaking people. It has been specially blessed in having true God-fearing, zealous men placed over it as pastors and its people have ever been noted for their generosity. Never in any place have they been excelled. God bless them one and all. "Bisno petua" is the wish of

PROGRAMME

For the Coming Session of the Grand Council, Young Men's Institute.

Grand Initiation Will Take Place at St. Anthony's Hall.

Business Sessions Will Be Held at Trinity Council's Hall.

A BIG ENTERTAINMENT FOR ALL

George J. Lautz, Grand Secretary and Treasurer of the Young Men's Institute and Secretary of the joint committee arranging for the coming Grand Council of the Kentucky jurisdiction, has sent a circular letter to the various councils advising them of the programme prepared for the sessions to be held in Louisville on September 20, 21 and 22.

The first feature of the sixth Grand Council will be the grand initiation, which will be held at St. Anthony's Hall, Twenty-third and Market streets, at 2 o'clock sharp Sunday afternoon, September 20. The three degrees, Institute Rank, V. M. I., will be conferred on a large class. Candidates are expected from every council in the State. A team from Satoli Council will confer the first degree. A team from Trinity Council will confer the second and a team from Mackin Council will confer the third. Visiting members will be present from other cities in Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Ohio.

On Monday morning the delegates and visiting members will assemble at the Willard Hotel at 8:30 o'clock and proceed to St. Aloysius' church, on Payne street, near Cooper, where high mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. After mass the delegates will proceed to Trinity Council's club house, 718 East Gray street, where the Grand Council will hold its first business session. A second session will be held in the afternoon, and at night the delegates and visitors will be tendered a reception at the Athletic Club, Fifth and Zane streets.

On Tuesday morning and afternoon the Grand Council will continue its business sessions, concluding with the election of officers. At 8 o'clock in the evening the Grand Council will be brought to a close with a banquet to officers and delegates at the Willard Hotel. The three local councils are making elaborate preparations to entertain the visitors and everything points to a successful meeting of the grand body.

Next Monday night Satoli Council will elect a President to succeed Harry Colgan, who has resigned, owing to the fact that he is about to leave the city. Mr. Colgan has a splendid position with the Standard Oil Company and a recent promotion is responsible for his removal from Louisville. At the meeting held Monday night George Perry, John J. Crotty, James Perry and William McNally were placed in nomination for the Presidency. Any one of them will make an able successor to Mr. Colgan. Every member of the council is expected to be present to take part in the election. After the business meeting a social session will be held to bid farewell to the departing President.

Mackin Council held a well attended meeting Tuesday night. Owing to the extremely hot weather only routine business was transacted. Six applications for membership were received and five new members were elected. The Secretary was instructed to write letters of thanks to the Kentucky Irish American and the daily papers for favorable notices of the tenth anniversary of Mackin Council.

PAINTING PIUS X.

His Holiness Pope Pius X. is sitting for his portrait, which is being painted by H. J. Thaddeus, a celebrated Irish portrait painter. It was through the good offices of Cardinal Moran that Mr. Thaddeus was allowed the privilege of being the first to portray the new Pope.
